

9 Reasons to Practice

...because you're feeling down

...because the hard parts won't fix themselves

...because a few minutes is better than none

...because great performances don't happen by magic

...because it's a good way of getting better at what you do

...because it's easy to keep going once you get started

...because you're feeling bored

...because you have a concert in a few days

...because it makes you feel good after you finish doing it!
